 - Advanced Rivers Conservation Camp set for Allenberry in March 2011

 - The Pennsylvania Council of Trout Unlimited and the Pennsylvania Fly Fishing Museum Association announces an Advanced Rivers Conservation Camp to be held March 20 - 23, 2011. The event will be held at Allenberry Resort in Boiling Springs, Pennsylvania. The camp will teach the science behind Trout Unlimited initiatives and fishing as well as providing a hands-on learning experience that ties fly fishing to science and vice versa. The camp is intended as a Trout Unlimited venture to discuss the science and policies behind Trout Unlimited's mission, "To conserve, protect and restore North America's coldwater fisheries and their watersheds." By partnering with the Pennsylvania Fly Fishing Museum Association additional resources are available for the attendees to explore the heritage of fly fishing. Based on the model used for the Rivers Conservation and Fly Fishing Youth Camp the camp will include topics such as geology, aquatic entomology, wetlands, riparian buffers, the biology of pollution, stream habitat and the politics of water. In addition there will be classes on stream etiquette, fly tying, bugs and their imitations and a round table discussion on trout and fisheries science. There is time set aside to discuss issues relevant to coldwater conservation. Afternoons have been set aside to provide ample time for students to fish in the Yellow Breeches at the Allenberry Resort or explore Letort Spring Run, Big Spring or Falling Spring, all within a short drive of Allenberry. Students may also contract on their own with professional guides from the area for additional personalized angling instruction. The camp is intended for persons 21 years of age and older. The cost per student is $500 for double occupancy rooms. An additional charge will be applied for students who want a single occupancy room or wish to bring a non-participating spouse or other guest. Applications will be accepted on a first come - first served basis beginning in November. The type of students that the event hopes to recruit are those Trout Unlimited and other conservation organization members who are active in the organization but wish to learn more about the science and history behind the fishing. These students may not have a science background but have a strong interest in conserving, protecting and restoring North America's coldwater fisheries and their watersheds. An application form can be downloaded here http://www.patROUT.org/Content/Rivers_Camp_Application.pdf For further information or to be placed on the mailing list please contact: Michael Klimkos klimkos@embarqmail.com 717-243-3056 Article submitted by PATU Michael Klimkos
